A new way to think.

We approach design-build and home renovations with a fresh perspective. More than just a philosophy, A New Way to Think re-engineers the remodeling client experience, understanding that each project is a collection of important details, all of which require attention and enthusiastic management for success.

ALH Home Renovations adheres to a well-considered project plan that includes all these details, from concept, design and build through site schedule and personnel contact info — until the last dust pile is swept away, and our clients are relaxing in their beautiful new surroundings.

Kitchens

A new way to think.

...about bathroom renovations is to consider that space an extension of the design of the rest of your house. Outdated functionality and décor can drag down the look and feel – not to mention sale value – of your home.

Bathrooms

We have the vision to see the potential in that space under your house. Making good and creative use of that additional square footage increases not only your living area and sale value, but also your daily quality of life.

A new way to think.

...about basement finish projects is to understand what clients are looking forward to as they descend those steps. Is it a familiar gathering spot or an exciting escape? Do they expect it to flow with the design of the rest of the house, or do they want to step into a whole new world?

Basements

We use several types of 2-D and 3-D software to help clients visualize their project's design options. You will work with creative and experienced designers who understand that beauty and utility do not always have to be astronomically expensive.

A new way to think.

...about residential design means taking the time to get to know the homeowner personally, so we can understand their personalities, needs and living style. Home is where you make your memories, where you relax, enjoy and live, so it should thoughtfully accommodate and express all these things for you.

Design is an extremely personal process, its success measured by the individual tastes of each client. Our projects are nothing short of an extension of the homeowners' personalities, and our gallery reflects these unique and diverse styles.
